

ONE TARIFF CLAUSE MEANS SHIP SUBSIDY

DECLARES CONGRESSMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI WHO WILL FIGHT DISCOUNT PROVISION.

FORESEES DIFFICULTY

With Foreign Nations in the Event That Discrimination is Made in Favor of Goods Carried in American Vessels.

Washington, April 17.—The democratic caucus resumed consideration of the tariff here today with every prospect of rapid completion of the measure, and its presentation to the house early next week. With the fight over free wool and free sugar settled the free list and administrative provisions remained as important issues ahead.

Representative Harrison of Mississippi, a member of the foreign affairs committee, is now planning a fight against the provision to permit a discount of five percent on all duties imposed on goods imported in vessels built in the United States, and which the property of United States citizens. They contend that amounts to a ship subsidy and that it is contrary to the spirit of some treaties.

Treaty Difficulties

"There is but one tariff bill that ever before carried such a provision," declared Mr. Harrison today, "and that was the first tariff passed in 1790 as a retaliation against similar acts of other countries. If such a provision is retained it will cause every foreign country with which we have commercial treaties either to serve notice of abrogation upon us to retaliate by increasing their duties on the imports from or exports to the United States."

Currency Reform

A currency bill embodying regional reserve plan not only is expected to be presented during the present session of congress, but action may be taken upon it before adjournment. At present it is contemplated to divide the country into 12 or 15 regional coordinate units. Each unit would have a reserve association and over all the units there would be a supervising board of central control, but not a central reserve association. Of the central board of authorities the government as well as the various units would be representative.

The measure will be known as the Owen-Glass bill.

The action of democrats of the house in considering the new tariff bill behind closed doors was denounced by republican leaders of the senate today as unfair to the public and to business interests that may be affected.

WITHDRAWAL RUMORS EMPHATICALLY DENIED

Report That Prominent Washington Women Were to Withdraw in Race for President of D.

A. R. Denied.

Washington, April 17.—When the session of the D. A. R. opened today requests from the floor were made upon Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Storey, and Mrs. Bryan, for information regarding rumors that each intended to withdraw in favor of others from the race for president. Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Storey, personally, emphatically denied the authenticity of the rumors declaring they were in the race to stay and would abide by the decision of the voters. Mrs. Bryan's denial was made from the platform by one of her chief lieutenants and was equally emphatic.

APPEALS TO COURT AGAINST EXTRADITION

Porter Charleston, Alleged Murderer of Wife in 1910, Appeals to Supreme Court Against Extradition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 17.—The appeal of Porter Charleston to the supreme court from the action of the New Jersey courts and the state department in holding him over for extradition to Italy to answer to the charge of murdering his wife at Lake Como on June 7, 1910, was on call for argument today before the court, but there was a possibility it might not be reached until tomorrow.

The body of Mrs. Charleston was found in a trunk in Lake Como near the water's edge. Charleston was located almost immediately, on a ship bound to America and was arrested at Hoboken, N. J. An alleged confession described how he had struck the woman on the head in a quarrel and killed her.

Charleston's father, Paul Charleston, until recently United States judge in Porto Rico, has fought unrelentingly to prevent his son being taken back to Italy for trial.

POLICE WILL SOLVE MYSTERY OF BROKER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, April 17.—Steamship officials today ascertained that the missing Joseph W. Martin, American cotton broker did not leave England on board the steamship Walmer Castle. One of the clues which the police had run down was that Martin went on board, the steamer with a woman on April 5th, shortly before that vessel sailed for South Africa. The police say they soon will be able to solve the mystery of Martin's disappearance.

SIXTY JAILED MEN REFUSE PRISON FOOD

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Denver, April 17.—Sixty industrial workers of the World, who yesterday began a "hunger strike" in the city jail here refused to eat breakfast today. When a trusty was sent to the jail with a supply of bread and water, the men refused to touch the fare. Talk of a compromise between the city and the industrial workers was rife. It was said that the Denver branch of the organization would agree to observe the police rules regarding street speaking and that the hundred visitors would then be released on the promise that they would leave the city at once.

HOTEL GUESTS ARE TRAPPED IN FIRE; REPORT MANY DEAD

Hostelry at Malone, New York, Burns Early Today, Following An Explosion—Guests Caught in Beds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Syracuse, N. Y., April 17.—A dispatch from Malone, N. Y., says "Seven persons were burned to death and fifteen others seriously injured when fire destroyed the De Willson hotel here this morning."

Caught in their beds, thirty or more guests were shut off from escape as the flames shot up the stairway. Several women jumped from the third floor.

The fire started with an explosion, the cause of which is unknown. Some of the guests were overcome in hallways and some in their rooms. Fireman managed to save a few by getting them out of the windows, but there was little time for rescue work.

Before the fire department reached the burning building the third story was a pillar of flames and rescues were impossible. All who were trapped there perished with the exception of the two who jumped.

BELGIAN STRIKERS GET NEW RECRUITS IN POLITICAL WAR

Utmost Decorum is Maintained Throughout the Country With Orderly Parades and Mass Meetings.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Brussels, April 17.—The Belgian workers' strike continues to extend slowly in every part of the country. Small numbers of men have returned to their work here, and there, but these defections are unimportant as compared with the figures of the French recruits who joined the movement. The men as a rule appear to be settling down to a long test of endurance and are determined to achieve victory in the cause of which they are fighting, that of equality in voting.

The socialist organization has opened dining halls in convenient locations for the provision of free meals to needy workers. The strike managers are organizing concerts, moving picture shows and magic lantern lectures to amuse and instruct the strikers and to keep them out of mischief. A few arrests have been made. The photo engraver of Brussels have voted to join the strike tomorrow.

Parade the Country

Liege, April 17.—Long columns of strikers, without music, flags or insignia of any kind, today marched along the country roads joining the towns and villages in this part of Belgium as a demonstration. The dingy, silent columns of men now and then met detachments of cavalry in glittering uniforms, but no collision took place.

BALLOON COLLAPSES JUST BEFORE START

Bruecker Fails to Start on Trans-Atlantic Flight When Gas Escapes From Dirigible Craft.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Las Palmas, Canary Islands, April 17.—Joseph Bruecker formerly of Milwaukee, did not sail as scheduled today on his proposed trans-Atlantic flight to the West Indies. Just as all preparations had been completed for the flight at daybreak this morning the gas in the balloon escaped in some manner through the chief valve and the envelope suddenly became deflated. Urgent telegrams were sent to Germany for a further supply of gas. Engineer Krueger who had been the last moment made some demur about undertaking the hazardous voyage and the promoters of the flight took out $50,000 insurance in his behalf. Bruecker expressed extreme annoyance over the accident. A large crowd which had waited for hours hoping to see the departure of the arisip manifested much disgust.

HAD NO OPPORTUNITY TO DEFEND HIMSELF SAYS WILLIS MOORE

Deposed Head of Weather Bureau Declares That Charges Against Him Were Investigated Secretly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, April 17.—Charges upon which President Wilson yesterday removed Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, from office rested today in the department of justice where agents of the bureau of investigation were at work upon them.

Neither Secretary Houston nor White House officials had any reply to make to Prof. Moore's statement that the charges against him had been made and investigated secretly and that he had no opportunity to defend himself.

None of the officials concerned went further today in detailing the charges than to say they consisted of irregularities, but Prof. Moore declared they were based upon his activities in working for appointment as secretary of agriculture.

The general allegation against Moore on trips on government business on trips on government business were utilized in addressing organizations and meetings in furtherance of his candidacy.

ARREST MAY FOLLOW CORONER'S VERDICT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, April 17.—Members of the police department planned rapid work today in their investigation of the murder of George Dietz, woman's tailor, found slain in his home last Monday.

George Nurnberg a harness maker whose friendship for Mrs. Dietz is said to have resulted in his arrest, is being held and Mrs. Dietz's home is guarded by detectives. Coroner Hoffman expects to conclude the inquest over the body of the victim today, while the police it is said, plan to make an important arrest after the coroner's jury has returned its verdict. Mrs. Dietz has employed an attorney and plans to confer with him before the close of the day. She will be given an opportunity to tell her story to the coroner's jury according to the present plans.

RAILROAD MEASURES ARE GIVEN HEARING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Heated Discussion on Nye Bill to Compel Railroads to Bear Cost of Removing Danger at Crossing.

Madison, Wis., April 17.—The committee on transportation has recommended for indefinite postponement the bill prohibiting obstructions in railroad tracks. The bill was recommended by the railroad order of trainmen, but a similar measure introduced by Assemblyman Holmes concerning similar powers on the railroad commission was recommended for passage.

The Nye bill to compel railroads to construct crossings, viaducts and subways, where they cross streets already laid out resulted in a heated discussion. Assemblyman Nye claimed that a similar law had been on the statute books of the state for over forty years. He believed the theory was correct. In his argument he was assisted by W. H. Timlin, assistant city attorney of Milwaukee, who said that it was because the railroad was there that the danger to life at crossings existed and that the railroad bear the entire burden of cost in removing the danger.

Henry Killelea of the St. Paul road said that the bill was a direct slap at the railroad commission. He said that the railroad commission now had the power to order a separation of grades and to apportion the costs upon both. In the meantime he considered the merits of every case and considered and justice could be obtained. He believed the Nye bill was unfair. Nye resented the argument that the power of the railroad commission was curbed. He contended that it still gave the commission power to order a separation of grades, but that in case it was found that the railroad came after the street had been laid, it made it mandatory upon the commission to apportion the entire cost upon the railroad.

A. Ennis of the Great Northern, gave his opinion that such a law would be a fine thing for the cities and that the city improvements would have to be borne by the rural communities. The committee will meet late this afternoon to take action upon this bill.

MAY SUPERVISE BUILDINGS IN MILWAUKEE COUNTY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., April 17.—A delegation of Milwaukee citizens spoke yesterday afternoon for the Weigle bill creating a commission to supervise the construction of all Milwaukee county buildings to cost not to exceed $5,000. They were: C. B. Whittall, W. H. Richardson, A. J. Lindeman, W. J. Riley and Alvin P. Kietzsch. The opposition was voiced by William McCarthy, president, and other members of the Milwaukee county board, who contended it would delay the construction of a new courthouse. They said it was a move to locate the new courthouse on the West side. They said it would take too much power from the county board and divest the people of authority.

SOUND DEATH KNEEL OF FORTUNE TELLER

Committee Recommends Carpenter Bill Prohibiting Practice of Trade in Wisconsin.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 17.—Aroused over Assemblyman Carpenter's recital of wrongs following in the wake of seer fortune tellers, the committee on public welfare yesterday afternoon unanimously recommended his anti-fortune telling bill for passage. Robbery, petty thievery, fraud, bunco games, seduction and maddening assault were enumerated by the baraboo representatives as examples of their evil character. He admitted he had had personal experience with the gentry, a gang of the wanderers once stealing his preserves stored in his cellar.

Mr. Carpenter declared that one Milwaukee fortune telling agency occupies a suite of rooms in a large office building and gives the police and detective agencies constant trouble. Assemblyman Gorecki of Milwaukee emphatically endorsed the bill.

Assemblyman Carpenter recounted the history of "Prof." Allen an erstwhile fortune teller of Baraboo, Madison and La Crosse, recently sent to state's prison from the latter city for a ten year term for seduction. He said Allen piled the clairvoyant trade with ruinous results to two girls living near Reedsburg.

"This class of people are a bunch of impostors and a plagued nuisance," said Carpenter. "They do nobody any good, and live off weak-minded people who believe in their glib promises."

Assembling the women of the tribe are telling your fortune, the men are ransacking your houses. Most states have laws against them, and as a consequence they are dumped into Wisconsin. They work the country fair and even the state fair, and a pack of thieves go along with them. No one ever heard of them doing a day's work.

The bill was unopposed.

WHITE SLAVE PROBE FAVORED IN SENATE

Engross-Linley Bill Without Dissenting Vote—Cunningham Income Tax Amendment Killed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, April 17.—Without a dissenting vote the senate last night engrossed the Linley bill providing for a commission to investigate the white slave traffic and kindred subjects. It also engrossed the True bill, merging the state park board with the state board of forestry. It killed the Burke bill to remove the Stout Institute from Menomonie to Eau Claire, and the Cunningham bill amending the income tax law.

The assembly committee on elections recommended for passage the Glenn senate bill for a referendum on woman's suffrage in 1914. The bill passed the upper house two weeks ago.

PRESENT BANKERS' SIDE FARM CREDIT QUESTION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Alexandria, La., April 17.—Just what the farmer is to expect from the banker, formed the basis of a spirited discussion at the opening here today of the Louisiana Bankers' Association annual convention. In an address on "The Bankers' Broad Shoulders," Henry V. Broussard declared that because banks will not advance money on a second mortgage on a second, one-horse, run-down farm at the same interest rate as is charged for the same service to the man who hands in a gilt edged security that can be sold in one minute by telephone without moving from a desk, it seems that the banker is singled out as loan shark a thousand times worse than Shylock. In conclusion Mr. Broussard declared that the farmers had always received a square deal from the bankers and that the present agitation is based more on consideration of sentiment than business.

SOUTHERN TAX CONFERENCE ASSEMBLED IN RICHMOND

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Richmond, Va., April 17.—Delegates appointed by the governors of all the Southern states assembled in Richmond today and entered upon a two-day discussion of the subject of taxation. The conference will endeavor to arrive at the best method for getting an equal distribution of the burdens of taxation, the proper portion to be borne by the cities and counties independent of the state and the merits of the suggestion of taxes so that the state shall receive certain funds and pay certain claims against the state, leaving the various cities and counties free to make their own assessments and to pay their own expenses of every sort.

MRS. MARY GOODRICH IS INJURED IN A RUNAWAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton, April 17.—Mrs. Mary Goodrich became frightened by the antics of a horse that was at large in front of Anderson and Arrington's livery, Tuesday afternoon, and in attempting to escape from what seemed to her to be the danger zone, fell on the cement walk and fractured her hip bone. At her age the injury is a serious one and will confine her to the house for months at the best.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN CONDITION OF THE POPE TODAY

Bulletin This Evening Announces He Passed Good Day Without Fever—Improvement Marked.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, April 17.—8:10 P. M.—Tonight's bulletin on the Pope's condition says: "His Holiness passed a good day without fever. This evening his temperature is 98. The improvement in the bronchial symptoms continues."

(Signed) Marchisava and Amici. Dr. Amici again visited the pontiff this morning and found little alterations in his condition.

Spent Quiet Night. The Pope's condition as set forth in the bulletin issued by Dr. Marchisava and Amici this morning was as follows: "The Pontiff spent a calm night. A diminution of his cough has relieved the Holy Father considerably. His temperature was 97 this morning. Slight amelioration in the bronchial symptoms was again noticed. Signed Marchisava and Amici."

The Italian government desiring to be absolutely sure of the real condition of Pope Pius today summoned the Pope directly responsible for the care of his holiness. The Pope's physicians stated with the frank declaration that it was extremely difficult to say that the pontiff's constitution would overcome the present crisis, but even if it does so, it was explained the remainder of the pontiff's day would still be considered as precarious and the end might be expected at any time.

The professor compiled this morning's bulletin in Cardinal Merry del Val's apartments, which he visited after his usual morning call at the pontiff's bedside. Upon leaving the Vatican he said that his patient's condition was much more satisfactory today. Besides the diminution of the cough, the general weakness was not so accentuated and the pulse not so fast.

"The Pope is so much better according to today's reports from the Vatican that should his present condition continue the bulletin tomorrow about his health will be the last published by the physicians. The doctors will declare that they are confident of the pontiff's recovery. The Pope himself says: 'He is better. When Dr. Amici visited him at noon today and asked him how he felt the pontiff replied: 'This is the first day since my first release that I feel really relaxed.'"

Insists on Rising. The two doctors today again impressed on the Pope the necessity of complete rest, informing him that any activity would create obstacles to his recovery. However, the pontiff broke through the fetters and flooded the Pope's chambers. The pontiff thereupon declared that he could endure his bed no longer. His restlessness increased and he insisted on rising. His attendants felt obliged to give way to his wishes. His valet proceeded to help him rise, but the Pope refused his assistance saying he could help himself.

MADISON AGREEMENT MAY NOT BE FINALLY ACCEPTED

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 17.—That the so-called Madison agreement by which it was hoped to eventually unite the Norwegian Synod and the United Lutheran churches of America would not be finally accepted and that another conference may be necessary before union can be effected is indicated by recent developments in synod circles. A special conference, representing the whole synod will be held at Minneapolis in June to consider the entire question of the Madison agreement and very session is anticipated. Numerically, the United Lutheran church is about twice as strong as the synod.

PAT CROWE BEING HELD IN JAIL AT LA CROSSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

La Crosse, April 17.—Because he was unable to raise $1,000 bail Pat Crowe, who kidnapped Edward Cudahy receiving $25,000 ransom, will be confined in jail here until circuit court meets in May. Crowe was placed in jail upon his arrival here from Minneapolis, where he was released before the end of his sentence because it was said he was correcting other workhouse inmates to recover from the effects of a debauch and later a charge of burglary was entered against him. Crowe is alleged to have entered a house and stolen a suitcase filled with clothes which he later disposed of to a saloon keeper.

GRAVE CHARGE MADE AGAINST DEPUTY SHERIFF

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Birmingham, Ala., April 17.—The case of former Deputy Sheriff Walter J. Metcalfe, who is charged with being an accessory to the murder of Felix J. Ellard, will be called for trial here tomorrow. Much interest is manifested in the trial as upon the result will depend the bringing of impeachment proceedings against the sheriff of Jefferson County.

A CYCLOPEDIA FOR $2.35.

Bargain in Reference Books for Readers of This Paper.
Through The Gazette as already announced, readers of this paper may obtain a $12 Cyclopaedia for $2.35 and a coupon.

Within a short space of time, leading newspapers distributed more than two million dictionaries at ninety-eight cents each, which was considered the greatest bargain ever offered. The price for this useful set of books is even a greater surprise than was the dictionary offer. The regular selling price of Everybody's Cyclopaedia is $12 a set, but on Friday, April 18, and Saturday, the 19th, readers of The Gazette can have this wonderful set for only one coupon and $2.35, as explained in the coupon printed elsewhere in this paper.

The price of the large cyclopaedia sets is usually so high—from $50 to $100—that they have been beyond the reach of many people. The publishers of Everybody's Cyclopaedia took advantage of these facts, and from a revision of various large and good cyclopedias have compiled all that is good—all that is necessary—and have merely eliminated or condensed that which would be of interest to a specialist or technical student.

Everybody's Cyclopaedia is beyond doubt a most useful set of books. It consists of five volumes, fully illustrated with beautiful colored plates, full-page and double-page engravings, and text pictures. It represents the equivalent of a valuable library of reference and text books for everybody.

These sets are too bulky to be sent by mail, but out-of-town readers can have them for the same amount ($2.35), the set to be sent by express, shipping charges to be paid by the recipient.

ROCK COUNTY BOARD OPPOSES EXTENSION OF FOREST RESERVE

Supervisors Disapprove of Legislation Which Would Tax County $8,000 Yearly to Buy State Forest Land.

Members of the county board voted unanimously in favor of a resolution introduced by Supervisor J. W. Wilford of Beloit to the effect that it be the sense of the board that they are opposed to the proposed legislation recommended by the state board of foresters and State Forester Griffith which provides a tenth of a mill tax throughout the state to raise money with which to increase the state forest reserve. Mr. Wilford explained that according to the bill it would mean a tax of $8,000 annually in Rock county for a period of twenty years. The matter was brought up at the suggestion of Senator J. E. Cunningham of Beloit who asked that the board make some sort of an expression in regard to it.

Supervisor Richardson stated that he did not feel qualified to vote on such a resolution and did not believe that the board was well enough acquainted with the situation to take action at this time. He asked to be excused from voting.

Supervisor Simon Smith spoke in favor of the resolution, declaring that he did not think that Rock county would get $8,000 worth of benefit from such a cause. It would mean an expenditure of some $280,000 in the whole state each year, he said. Most of the contemplated reserve land is now held by lumber companies who charge the state double the price that it is worth.

Other matters before the board today were of minor interest and mostly of routine character. Committees on bridges reported on petitions offered by the various townships for county bridge aid and on resolution of Supervisor Gleason appropriations were made as follows: Avon, $1,500; Clinton, $475; La Prairie, $2,429.63; Milton, $300; Newark, $1,000; Newburg and Plymouth, $1,200; Porter, $250; and Turtle, $400.

The report of committee No. 5 on education was submitted by Supervisor Stoney and the county superintendent's report was read by O. D. Antisdal. Mr. Antisdal, in his report, announced the resignation of Miss Edna Hemingway as deputy in his office and the appointment of Miss Sallie Clapp of Janesville as her successor after May 1.

The board voted an appropriation of $2,000 for the county training school and made provision for the asylum fund to a sum not to exceed $6,000, whatever part was needed until the November session.

The board voted to raise the salary of Mrs. Katherine Earle Carman, deputy clerk of the circuit court, to $60 a month, and made provision for a telephone in the office of F. C. Grant, court reporter.

The board adjourned, sine die, at three o'clock this afternoon.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN FOR CITY PLANNED

Mayor Fathers and Health Officer Dr. S. B. Buckmaster to Announce Particulars Soon.

Janesville will have a "clean-up" campaign this spring in common with other progressive cities, and it will be as thorough and painstaking as it is possible for it to be made. Assurances to this effect were made this morning by Mayor James A. Fathers and Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, elected to the position of city health officer at the last meeting of the city council. The day's aside for this purpose will probably be May 1, and 3, including "Fire Prevention Day" which comes on the second day of the month. Definite announcement of the manner in which the winter's accumulation of rubbish and dirt is to be collected will be made in a proclamation by the mayor which will be issued within a short time.

Mayor Fathers does not desire to give the impression that citizens should wait to clean up their premises until the official clean-up days. The sooner the work is done the better. It is also the legal duty of those owning or renting property to remove from the premises any refuse or other material which endangers the health or by reason of its noxious odor creates a nuisance. According to Section 3 of Chapter XIX of the city ordinances: "If the health officer shall order any person to remove from his premises or otherwise abate any nuisance, or other source or cause of disease found thereon, and such person shall refuse or neglect to obey such order, the health officer shall compel the same to be executed at the expense of said person. This will be entered on the tax roll against the property."

Dr. Buckmaster hopes to interest the school children in the clean-up program as their showing in the work done last spring was very creditable.

MATHESON TAKES TESTIMONY IN ACTION AGAINST BANK

Philip Allen, Defaulting Cashier of Mineral Point Bank, Brought to Madison As Witness.

Attorney A. E. Matheson of this city, Master in Chancery, went to Madison last evening to hear the testimony of Philip Allen, the defaulting cashier of the First National Bank of Mineral Point, in the case of Receiver Williams, against the directors to recover some $700,000. The hearing was begun several months ago and at its close Mr. Matheson will submit his findings to Judge Sanborn of the federal court. Allen is serving a ten years' term at the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas. If his behavior is satisfactory he may be released after serving six and a half years.

DINNER STORIES.

He was the small son of a bishop, and his mother was teaching him the meaning of courage.

"Supposing," she said, "there were twelve boys in one bedroom, and eleven going to bed at once, while the other knelt down to say his prayers; that boy would show true courage."

"Oh," said the young hopeful, "I know something that would be more courageous than that." "Supposing there were twelve bishops in one bedroom, and one got into bed without saying his prayers?"

"I passed my vacation in Wisconsin," said Jerome S. McVade, the Duluth capitalist. "Wisconsin, you know, is famous for having originated the immortal phrase, 'The woods is full of 'em.'"

SALOON FOES GLAD OF RECENT VICTORY

Heads of the Anti-Saloon league express themselves as gratified over the results of the local option elections about the state on April 1. Enough returns have been received, they say, to show that there was a substantial addition to the amount of dry territory in the state, that towns that were lost were small and that several of the bigger towns were added to the dry list. Returns received so far are as follows:

MATRIMONIAL.

Alwin Lee.

Miss Clara Alwin and James F. Lee were united in marriage by the Rev. Father Mahoney at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The couple was attended by Miss Alice McDermott and Edward Lee. After the ceremony the wedding party enjoyed a three-course wedding luncheon at the home of Joseph Litney, 514 Chestnut street. After a brief wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Alwin will be at home to their friends at 236 Linn street. Both young people are well and favorably known in Janesville.

Not Exactly Her Opinion.
"I'm sorry I ever married you!" shrieked the bride, on the occasion of their first quarrel. "You ought to be!" retorted the groom, really angry and bitter for the first time. "You beat some nice girl out of a good husband!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GINK AND DINK.

Sport Shop Shots by Dan McCarty

J. Gladstone Graney, peppery outfielder with the Cleveland Naps, barely escaped being left in a Pittsburgh jail when his team left that city on its way north from the southern training trip. Graney, who owns the official mascot of the team, a bull pup named Larry, tried to auction the dog off for a joke during a halt in the Smoky City depot. A newspaper writer made a fake purchase of the dog for $50. Just at this juncture a policeman appeared and put the two traffickers under arrest. The player's had a hard time convincing the cop that it was a joke.

Sam Crawford, veteran outfielder for the Detroit Tigers has a shock-absorbing sliding pad on which he plans to slide into innumerable stolen bases this season. An outer pad of sheepskin with the wool out is backed with silk. This pad plays upon another pad faced with silk and strapped to the thigh upon which Sam plans to slide. His theory is to hit the dirt and let the pads do the rest. If this keeps up, we'll be hearing about ball-bearing roller skates for base runners before long.

This charming tale is told of a ball player once possessed by the club which made his home in Little Rock, Ark. His name was "Scrap Iron" Beecher, and he was as eccentric as his name. One of his pet tricks was to walk in front of the grand stand, take off his cap, assume the attitude of an umpire, and announce in stentorian tones:

"Ladies and gentlemen! I have been requested by the management to hit the ball over the right field fence."

VARSITY NINE WINS FROM MILTON COLLEGE

Milton College Players Defeated in Hardest Fought Contest Ever Seen at Lower Campus at Madison.

Air tight pitching by Harper, of the varsity, and a few misplays by Milton, enabled the university nine to nose out a victory in Tuesday's game against Milton college. The game was the first for both teams and the score was 5 to 4, Milton making a desperate effort to win in the last inning.

Madison scored their runs in the first, second, fifth and seventh innings and established a lead that the Milton boys were unable to overcome. Three pitchers were tried out by coach Juncos. Harper displaying the best form, having a good "spitter" for the Milton boys to swing at. Milton made an excellent showing against their opponents and with a little luck should have returned the victors. Grandall proved a stumbling block to the Madison batters, only allowing three hits during the entire contest. Their batting was also strong as Lampert and G. Grandall slammed out two baggers and Richardson nicked the varsity pitcher for a three bagger. Milton's playing, while far from perfect, showed good development, and with more training, should develop into a whirlwind aggregation of players.

Milton made a bold attempt to win the game during the ninth inning, as they were only one out behind the varsity team but a lucky double play killed the rally.

Summary. Wisconsin—Hoppert, 3b; Boutin, cf; Hertzog, 2b; Lampert, 1b; Machotka, ss; Byrns, rf; Bragg, G. Grandall, 3b; Shafer, Hoskins, c; Wendt, Harper, Isabella, p.

Milton—Bingham, 2b; Randolph, 1b; Brudick, ss; G. Grandall, cf; West, 1b; White, rf; P. Grandall, cf; Richardson, 3b; Sorenson, c.

Score—Wisconsin: 5 runs, 3 hits, 2 errors; Milton: 4 runs, 5 hits, 4 errors.

Two-base hits, Lampert, G. Grandall, Richardson; three-base hits, Boutin; double plays, G. Grandall to Bingham, Machotka to Hertzog to Bragg, Hoppert to G. Grandall to Hoskins.

OLDEST BASEBALL EMPLOYE IS BOASTED BY BOSTON

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Boston, Mass., April 17.—With the opening today of the home season of the National League, Gene Foster began his thirty-fifth consecutive season as chief usher at the South End grounds. Gene is seventy-six years old and claims to be the oldest employee at any baseball park in the country, both as to age and years of service.

With this prediction, he would go to bat often with the result that he did as he had announced. Residents of Little Rock still point in corroboration to a frayed spot high on the right field fence which they claim was made by the frequent thudding of "Scrap Iron's" hits against it.

Cy Morgan, formerly pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, pitched and won his first game for Kansas City of the American Association recently. He was sold to the Blues by the Athletics late last summer, but declined to go to the minors. Instead, he pitched semi-professional ball around Philadelphia. Now he has seen light. For this Kansas City is glad and several other American Association teams sorry, for Cy has a good deal of hurling ability still concealed in his system.

It will cost about $10,000 a minute to decide the guardianship of the international polo cup at Meadow Brook next June. Not including the personal bills of the players, the contest will represent an outlay of nearly $1,000,000. Rowing, the most expensive college sport, certainly will have to take a back seat for this game.

One of the country's leading sires of speed went when Bingen, 2:06 1/4, died recently at Castleton farm, near Lexington, Ky. Bingen was purchased at auction by William Bradley of New York for $32,000.

SOUTH ATLANTIC LEAGUE PLAYS OPENING GAMES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Jacksonville, Fla., April 17.—All indications point to an aggressive and well contested campaign of the South Atlantic League of Baseball Clubs, the opening games being played today. The circuit of the league is the same as last year with the exception that the Columbia franchise has been transferred to Charleston. Weaker teams of last season apparently have been materially strengthened, which is expected to result in an interesting race for the pennant. The schedule provides for 120 games to be played between now and Labor day. Albany opened today at Charleston, Macon at Columbus and Savannah at Jacksonville.

There is a ridge of high barometer from the lower Lake Region to the Gulf, attended by fair weather, and an area of low barometer stationary in the Southwest. It is attended by some cloudiness in Arizona and Colorado.

KNELL OF OLD-TIME STARS IS RUNG BY MANAGER JOHNNY EVERS OF CHICAGO CUBS

Two old-time ballplayers now on the roster of the Chicago Cubs are said to be about to drop from the big league. They are Jimmy Sheppard, for a decade famous as a Cub outfielder, and Tommy Leach, who played on four championship Pittsburgh Pirate teams at third base and in the outfield, and last year was traded to the Cubs for Artie Hegman. One story has it that they will be traded to Philadelphia for pitcher Enna River while others say they will be shipped to the minors.

PENNY POSTAGE.

At a recent meeting of the Inland Press association the question of the proposed penny postage agitation was taken up and discussed and important action taken on the matter. The advocates of this proposed measure would reduce the postage rates of the United States to one cent instead of two. It is being advocated in the interests of the big mail order houses or concerns that send out circulars and letters in large numbers daily. For them it is a good thing but some one must take up the difference and the second class mail matter will pay the difference. Directly it hits the newspaper publishers the country over. The question asked by Frank E. Noyes of Marinette, in his paper before the press association was: "Is the second class mail matter a reasonable one and can newspapers afford to pay more than they are now paying?" As a solution of this problem, as well as the penny postage rates, Mr. Noyes suggested that the postal rates for second class matter be arranged so as to conform with the zone system established for the parcel post. As a result of this address the following resolution was adopted and forwarded to each senator, congressman and official of the postoffice department, president as well as to trade papers and all members of the association. The following is the resolution which the Gazette most heartily endorses:

"We, the members of the Inland Daily Press Association, in convention assembled, this 15th day of March, 1913, hereby protest against the various estimates and statements that have been made relative to the cost of handling and carrying second class mail matter. We believe they are misleading and do not properly express the cost of such mail matter as is paid for."

The vast amount of government mail which is carried an average distance of nearly half across the continent, and the larger amount of franked mail, all go to increase the average cost of second class matter, and should be classified separately and eliminated from the estimate in arriving at the cost of carrying newspapers and periodicals.

We protest against any increase in the rate of carrying second class mail matter short distances.

We believe the zone system, as applied to the parcel post, is the proper way of charging for the handling and transportation of bulky mail of all kinds and that the same system be applied to the handling and transportation of second class mail matter, the charges for which should be based on the relative distances of carriage.

Inasmuch as the express companies carry newspapers from four to five hundred miles at a rate of one-half cent per pound, we believe the post office department ought to be able to carry second class mail within short distances at no greater cost.

We believe the rate for handling and carrying second class mail within a radius of 150 miles ought not to be increased beyond the present rate of one cent per pound; but rather should be reduced to correspond to the express rate of one-half cent.

Recognizing the increased cost of carriage to greater distances we are willing to pay more for such service. We recommend and endorse a rate of one and one-half cents per pound for a zone of distances from 300 to 1,000 miles.

We recommend and endorse a rate of two cents per pound for all second class mail carried to a zone of 1,000 miles and over.

In a spirit of co-operation with government officials and commissioners, we are in favor of these increased changes within the larger zones above.

We urge congress in readjusting postal rates to do so on the principle of the zone system.

(Signed):

FRANK E. NOYES,
D. W. GRANDON,
J. L. STURTEVANT,
Committee.

THE CONSEQUENCES:

All Europe is still guessing as to the probable outcome of the Balkan war upon the map of the national boundaries. That the allies have some important rights in the decision is appreciated, but just how much they will accomplish remains to be seen. An exchange discusses this topic by saying that with the disappearance of the military aspects of the Balkan war and the adjustment near at hand of its political problems, the economic reconstruction of the new territories to be assigned to the four allies will present problems whose effects will be international in ways larger even than financial relations. The field for the introduction of agricultural methods and machinery to foster production will be wide and new. The opportunities for the upbuilding of public utilities will be enormous, in the conquered countries and in the Balkan states. The sudden influx of tourist travel will lead to all the demands of modern civilization.

But this expansion may immediately effect the United States and other countries in a way that is hardly recognized. With the change of political conditions, for safety and for business, there may come the return to the regions undergoing transformation and seeking modern status, of millions of their natives now distributed over the world. This would be reflected in not merely the lower classes of labor, skilled and unskilled, but in the higher types of business men.

The Greek is famous, world over, as banker and as business man. He will find at home and in the districts surrounding Greece, the wider field he has sought, with the search for liberty, in every quarter of the globe.

From 1902 to 1911, 241, 896 immigrant Greeks came into the United States. During the same period there were 106,704 Bulgarian, Serbian and Montenegrin immigrants. A large portion of these may leave their trade or business here and return to their fatherland. This will make a tangible labor and difference to the United States.

Still further, much of the immigration that comes into the United States from the Austrian provinces may be diverted to the Balkans. Armies of men will be needed for complete the railway systems already in good position to push forward. The Greek railways are a connecting link between Europe and the East. The Hellenic and Thessalian railroads are the entrance to quick communication with Asia and Africa. Salonica is a gateway to the Orient.

In like manner the maritime history and prestige of the Greek and his extraordinary favorable position on the seabornd must vastly extend the shipping and kindred trades. Quite apart from a possible return of his primacy in these respects, both mercantile and marine trades will assuredly assert themselves before long, and the past exodus of the Greek will be replaced by the new anabasis a "going up" to his home and to his native sea that will affect other nations.

TIME FOR ACTION.

Now that the Boosters' club has been organized there is no time for delay in securing membership and perfecting the organization. The first hundred citizens who took part in the initial meeting at the Myers theatre Tuesday night demonstrated that the proposed club fills a long-felt want in civic life. Everyone should become a booster and help organize this Twenty-five Thousand club into an association that can be of real benefit to the city as a whole. The preliminary work has been done, but much remains yet to be accomplished before the final organization can be effected. Unite with the Boosters. Be a Booster! Sign your name to one of the lists that are to be circulated. Pay your dollar fee and put on the Booster button. Men, women and children can all become boosters if they wish, and the more boosters Janesville has the better off the city will be. Do it today. Join the club at once so as to have a voice in the nomination and electors of the nine directors who will handle affairs. This is an organization for the people and by the people.

STILL TALKING.

William Jennings Bryan is still talking. Despite the fact that President Wilson has intimated that he is the democratic leader, the former silver tongued orator of the Platte talks on. At Trenton, N. J., in Wilson's own home state, Mr. Bryan recently made an address that has caused some of the democratic leaders to shade their heads bodingly. Bryan was introduced as the man for whom the election of Mr. Wilson "could not have taken place." Then Mr. Bryan, smiling and pleased at the praise, proceeded to talk on the sanctity of the platform pledges of the democratic national party. To quote him directly, he said:

"A platform that is not binding is like the written representation upon which a man obtains money and subjects himself to prosecution for obtaining it under false pretenses. A platform that is not binding ought never to be written. If a man is elected on a platform and finds after his election that he can't conscientiously carry it out he ought to be conscientious enough to resign and let his people select some one who can conscientiously do what they want done."

Mr. Wilson may put this in his pipe and smoke it. He will not relish the flavor, but what cares Mr. Bryan. It will be remembered that the democratic national convention at Baltimore assembled, bound its candidate to a single term principle. Bryan had it inserted. All through the campaign he talked of it and Wilson smiled. It made him votes. But he never adopted it himself. Now Mr. Bryan brings it up again. It is safe to say that as long as Mr. Bryan is on top of the earth he will insist on making trouble for democracy even when it seems on the wave of popularity and prosperity after long years of lean times.

Old Diaz still insists that Mexico is a good place for him to stay away from Castro also has the opinion of Venezuela.

Up at Madison they are still arguing relative to reform movements that will not even reform.

There is but a feeble interest displayed thus far in Panama hats and their prices but it will come later on.

Mexico is at present working its revolution with a soft pedal attached.

There is a probability that the democratic congress will want to put the Panama canal on the free list before they get through.

California almost always has Joplinia about this time of the year and then receives later on.

Running a Furnace.

There is a gentleman whom we always admire and love to meet and he is the gentleman who tells how cheaply he runs his furnace. Next to the gentleman who knows how to keep a hired girl, he is the most lovable and entertaining person we know of.

We have never succeeded in running our furnace cheaply nor in running it at all. Our furnace has always run us. We have followed every bit of sage advice that has floated around our way. We have raised the flimlock and lowered the bobandletchit. We have pulled out the carburetor and pushed in the spark plug. We have twisted the greenlighter and turned the marlin spike. We have polished the piston rod, oiled the monkey wrench, inverted the dudensocker, and upset the whiffletree. We have worked all these things singly and in combinations, backward and forward, inside and out, up and down, alman, left, swing on the corners and balance all, and our furnace has still got the Sphinx of Egypt backed off the boards as an all around full jeweled stemwinding mystery. It is a grinning demagogical thing waiting for whom it may devour.

We have succeeded in turning our living room into a Turkish bath and our parlor into a correct imitation of the north pole at the same moment, and when we have endeavored to remonstrate with our furnace it has bucked, kicked, clawed and spit at us like a peevish cayuse of the alkali plain. It furnishes heat in hot weather and forms artificial ice on the curtain poles in cold weather. We have turned, twisted, banged, yanked, and shoved, pulled, banged, yanked, cuffed, slapped, poked, stroked, punched, hammered, glued, soldered, teased and threatened every possible crank, piston, damper, draft bolt, handle, faucet, and smokestack on the thing, and it has remained as consistently balky as the young woman who is asked to play a piece on the piano at an ice cream social.

We have heard of more ways of saving coal than there are ways for the malefactor of great wealth to lodge the constitution of the United States. We have burned hard coal, soft coal, coke, slabs, cordwood, peat, furniture, old picture frames, corn cobs, and love letters, and still when we want to get warm we have to go to church.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

A MARVELOUS AGE.

The other day a wireless operator out in the Pacific ocean heard voices 150 miles away. The explanation was offered that he had picked up scraps of conversation in a distant wireless telephone test.

The same day came news that an aviator had flown across the Mediterranean sea from Tunis, Africa, to Sicily, a distance of 180 miles.

A few months earlier it was reported from Paris that by a combination of the phonograph and moving pictures the audience not only saw, but heard, the actors on the screen. At about the same time it was cabled from London that moving pictures had been reproduced in natural colors without painting the films.

It is a marvelous age, just how marvelous we who live in it but dimly realize.

The currents of all past ages are meeting in this focal point of time. The dreams of seers and prophets are coming true. Things our great-grandfathers hardly dared imagine are today commonplace.

The writer has a sixteen-year-old boy who has a wireless apparatus, much of which he made himself, through which he picks up messages from ships hundreds of miles at sea.

What would have been a miracle to our fathers has become the plaything of our children.

What does all this mean for the future?

Reflect on the swift progress of the last twenty-five years and the swifter progress of the last ten years.

If advancement continues at ever increasing speed where may it not lead?

Tomorrow may we not speak through telephones without wires for hundreds or thousands of miles and not only hear our distant friend's voice, but see his speaking image before us?

Tomorrow may not the common means of travel be the airship?

The automobile has come in a score of years, the telephone in a lifetime, the railroad, telegraph and steamship in a century.

With the advance of science and surgery on the one hand and of psychology on the other may not disease be practically banished from the future man?

It is a privilege and an inspiration to live in an age like this.

It is a trumpet call to all the powers, hopes and aspirations of this age.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Word of Mouth Advertising

We print the news of the store daily just as The Gazette prints the news of Janesville and the world. There are many thousands of people who read The Big Store advertisements carefully, too; often more carefully than they do the ordinary news pages of this paper. This sort of advertising pays a store when it sticks to the truth and when the news is worth telling. But word-of-mouth advertising is the sort that pays the best. For instance, a lady comes here for a Suit or Coat. If she is pleased she talks about it—tells her friends just as she would of an automobile that is "all right." That's to our profit of course. This word-of-mouth advertising is the hardest kind to get. It can't be bought. It must be earned—deserved. We are trying to deserve it in every branch of our business. We are trying to serve Janesville people so well that they can't help saying to friends and family: "Go to The Big Store, if you want this or that. It is the best place." The store has earned such advertising in many lines—is getting it all over Rock County and beyond. This season it has deserved it as never before. For this season it is a better store than ever before. And for the future well, we shall try to make the service even better than it is now and await the outcome without worrying.

As to Music.

Scientific farming consists not only of knowing seed methods of fertilization, cultivation and irrigation but of knowing what to plant in order to get the greatest cash return per acre.

To know this, the farmer must follow the National production of each crop throughout the year.

If there seems to be a scarcity of hops or barley or potatoes or some other product which he can grow in his soil, he then has an opportunity to put in such a crop and get a big return.

The farmer who regularly reads the Monthly Crop Report issued by this Bank will be in a better position to judge of supply and demand. We shall be glad to send these Reports to you regularly on request as well as secure for you any special information regarding the supply of any farm product.

ONE THOUSAND MARK IS IMMEDIATE GOAL

BOOSTERS' CLUB NEEDS MANY FOR PERFECTING AN ORGANIZATION.

WILL INTEREST WOMEN

Committee Had Meeting This Afternoon to Further Plans for Hastening Button Sale.

"One thousand members for the Boosters' Club," this is the immediate goal of the committee which desires to bring the membership to that point as rapidly as possible in order that a working organization may be perfected. With the purpose of hurrying along the membership campaign the preliminary committee on organization met at four o'clock this afternoon to make new plans and take stock of the present state of the movement. It is expected that one of the steps to be taken will be a special campaign to enroll women as members. Although it has been announced previously that women were eligible to membership no means of canvassing has been devised. Women canvassers, who will be provided with the buttons, are among the methods suggested, and the matter may also be brought to the attention of the women's clubs of the city.

"Button buttons are selling fast but not too rapidly," say those who are selling the handsome emblems of the "Twenty-Five Thousand Club." Their wearers are proud of them, wear them in a conspicuous position on their coat lapel, and fill out their chests when the stranger's eye takes note of them," said one of the enthusiastic members this afternoon. They not only show the right spirit but they cultivate it. Every man and woman who wants to take an aggressive stand when the name of his home city is mentioned, to boast of it and not take the defensive and apologize should have and wear the button. Remember that they are to be had at the Rock County, Bower City, First National and Merchant and Savings Banks, the Gazette and Record offices, People's Drug Company, Sheldon Hardware Company and at Taylor Brothers Grocery.

"After the club is organized, what then?" say some of those with an eye to the future and, possibly a little skepticism. The Boosters have their eye on the future; they aim to do more than lead a hallooing chorus, and when the machinery for doing things is perfected plans for definite practical activities, not only to advertise Janesville to the outside world but to make the city itself an advertisement will be forthcoming.

TWO WEDDINGS HELD DURING THE WEEK

Miss Mary Henke Becomes Bride of Henry Hartwig—Anna Hartig Weds James Byrne.

At four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at St. Paul's German Lutheran church parsonage, Rev. J. C. Koepke officiating, Miss Mary Henke was united in marriage to Henry Hartwig. Miss Margaret Henke acted as bridesmaid and Henry Muenchow as best man. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hartwig will be at home to their friends at their new home, 115 Linn street. The groom is employed by the Rock River Cotton company and the bride was a former clerk in the Annie Reid company.

On Monday last at eleven o'clock at St. Patrick's church parsonage, occurred the marriage of James Byrne and Miss Anna Hartig. Henry Hartwig, a brother of the bride, officiated as best man, and Elizabeth Byrne as bridesmaid. After a honeymoon spent in the northern part of the state they will return to Janesville and make their home on Holmes street.

WRECK BELOW JANESVILLE CLEARED UP LAST NIGHT

The three cars of the wrecked freight train, No. 374, which left the track three miles below the city limits, was lifted back onto the track last night by the wrecking crew which came from Savannah. The cause of the derailment is unknown but is thought to have been caused by a defective flange on the freight car as the rest of the train had passed over safely.

The train crew was composed of Engineer Coker, Fireman Kelleher and Conductor Gregory. No one was injured except George F. Fraunfelder, who was riding in the couple at the time that the cars left the track. Conductor Gregory yelled to him to watch out but it was too late. Mr. Fraunfelder tumbled to the floor, the freight car falling on top of him. He was injured otherwise than a few minor bruises. The wrecking crew came from Savannah and put the three cars and the caboose on the track and traffic over the line was resumed.

Friday, April 18, at 8 o'clock, the greens committee, arranged to have Clarkson, the Rockford golf club professional, to come to Janesville to make suggestions as to the improvement of the course. Among the changes contemplated are beautifying the grounds with shrubs, interior decorations of the club house, improvement in the showers in the women's locker room.

REPORT FOR MARCH BY VISITING NURSE

Two Hundred and Sixty-Five Children Examined—Twenty-Three Patients Under Care.

Two hundred and sixty-five school children were examined by the visiting nurse, Miss Agnes C. Anderson, during the month of March at the Grant, Webster and Washington schools, according to her report for that month, filed with the city council. Her notices were sent to the parents of school children and five home calls made. There are twenty-one old cases of illness during the month and five new ones, making a total of twenty-six. Ninety-five calls were made on these patients. One patient recovered and one died. Diagnosis of the new cases shows that there are two of tuberculosis, one of tuberculosis spine, and one maternity case, attended. Twenty-three patients remain under the care of the visiting nurse.

URGES STUDENTS TO AID IN BEAUTIFYING CITY

Supt. Buell Enlists Support of High School Young Folks in Improving Looks of Janesville.

The high school students were given a good talk this morning by Principal H. C. Buell on the ways and methods of making this city beautiful. Mr. Buell cited several examples of young boys who were destroying lawns and shrubbery in various parts of the city, and that each and every high school student could aid toward this cause of keeping anything like this from being demolished, by merely calling the young men's attention to such things. Madison is a fine city, said Mr. Buell, and much effort was put forth there by the high school boys and girls in beautifying the Capitol city. Mr. Buell expressed his confidence in the high school students of this city, and that he hoped for their good work in this cause.

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE HELD AT SANDY SINK TOMORROW

Arrangements have been completed for the local entertainment that is to be held at the U. B. church at Sandy Sink tomorrow night. The proceeds to be given towards buying a piano for the district school house. The entertainment is to consist of a farce play, "A Perplexing Situation," and a number of recitals and musical numbers. The occasion bids fair to be a great success and a large amount of the money necessary is expected to be raised.

ATTRACTIVE LITERATURE AT THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU

A quantity of booklets and folders, which are free to the public, have just been received at THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU, among which are the following: "A Guide to New York City," which contains illustrations and descriptive material of the great metropolis. An illustrated pamphlet of the new Grand Central Terminal gives one some idea of the greatness of this new terminal which is probably one of the largest and most magnificent structures of its kind in the world. There are also booklets beautifully illustrated and full of interesting descriptions of western ports.

Any of the above literature is procurable for the asking at the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU.

UNABLE TO LOCATE THE REHBERG SAFE

Diver Gunderson and Helpers Give Up All Hope of Securing Only Remaining Strong Box in River.

Diver Charles Gunderson and his helpers have given up all hope of salvaging the safe of Amos Rehberg, which is the only remaining strong box that went down into the river after the fire that destroyed Milwaukee street bridge on April 1st. The six men worked from a raft all day yesterday trying to locate the safe with long poles but could find no trace of it. Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Gunderson donned his suit and made several trips under water but his efforts were unsuccessful.

The Rehberg safe is estimated to weigh about eight hundred pounds and is thought to be the sixty feet from the bridge and just outside of the channel of the river. The current is extremely swift here and because of this great handicap the diver was unable to do effective work. Most followers of this profession would have refused to make even an attempt in salvaging the safe in such a current, as swift water is the most treacherous obstacle that a diver has to contend with.

Because of the danger of being carried away by the force of the water, the workmen believed of a novel plan whereby a pipe was sunk to the bottom of the river and nailed to the raft. The diver would go down and by holding onto this pipe would be able to stay at the bottom of the river. As he could only feel within a radius of a few feet this plan did not accomplish much, so another pipe about eight feet long was tied onto the first, enabling him to explore a greater area of the bottom. Mr. Gunderson worked all this morning and the pipe was gone over in a most thorough manner but no trace of the safe was found. The river is about sixteen feet deep and the current at the bottom is almost as swift as on the surface, and is full of twisted pipes and wires, making under-water working very dangerous. As work at the railroad bridge demands the diver's services, and all possible work has been done in trying to raise the safe, nothing more will be done until the river is at a low ebb.

Two Minor Fires: The fire department was summoned to extinguish two fires yesterday afternoon at about three-thirty o'clock. In a barn occupied by William Wall, to the rear of the Harry McNamara residence, between Mineral Point Avenue and North River street. One stream was sufficient to put out the fire in a short time. The damage will not exceed $100. A chimney fire at the home of George Crossman, 215 Glen street, resulted in a call for the fire department about three o'clock this afternoon. It was quickly extinguished.

Two Minor Fires: The fire department was summoned to extinguish two fires yesterday afternoon at about three-thirty o'clock. In a barn occupied by William Wall, to the rear of the Harry McNamara residence, between Mineral Point Avenue and North River street. One stream was sufficient to put out the fire in a short time. The damage will not exceed $100. A chimney fire at the home of George Crossman, 215 Glen street, resulted in a call for the fire department about three o'clock this afternoon. It was quickly extinguished.

Which Has the Advantage?
It took the Almighty, ages upon ages to evolve an animal that could fly; a bird; and it has taken ages and ages longer to evolve a human being that can fly; but if we, learning at last to fly, have not learned, also, more nobly to aspire and to live, the birds who have taken the short cut to aviation have the advantage over us.—John H. Finley, in the Atlantic.

JAPANESE MINISTER COMPLAINS TO BRYAN

Viscount Chinda, Japanese ambassador to the United States, has lodged protest with Secretary of State Bryan against two American policies. He opposed the recognition of China by the United States, and now he complains that the land bills before the California legislature, which aim to make it difficult for a Japanese to own land in the Golden State, are unjust to the Japanese people in California.

FINE PROSPECT FOR HIGH SCHOOL NINE

Twenty-five Candidates Are Out For Positions With Indications For A Strong Team.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, April 17.—About twenty-five candidates have been trying out for the high school baseball team. There are several of the old players back from last year and many new men are in the field.

Only three or four are sure of their positions and it is hard to tell who will make the first team.

The pitching will probably be done by Chas. McIntosh and Harold Dave while Charles Campbell will most likely be behind the bat, with Harold Sutton holding first base. Paris will no doubt see Lowell Whitte holding down second base while the "dope" at present is of airy sort and time will tell.

Games will very likely be scheduled with Whitewater, Milton, Milton Junction and Stoughton.

SEVEN TO DELIVER ORATIONS TONIGHT

Declamatory And Extemporaneous Contest Will Be Held at High School on Friday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, April 17.—Seven speakers are scheduled to deliver orations at the annual high school oratorical contest at the high school this evening at seven-thirty. The program will be as follows:

War and Public Opinion Kenneth Earle
Battle of Saratoga Ed Sweeney
The American Infamy Jay Campbell
The Martyr President Francis Curran
Evolution of Conscience Clayton Hubble
The American War Glen Gardner
Toussaint L'Ouverture Roy Tallard

The declamatory and extemporaneous contest will be held at the school building tomorrow evening at seven-thirty. The declamatory program will be as follows:

The Bear Story Bernadine Gland
The Sign of the Cross Cecelia Barrett
The Christmas Play Lulu Scholl

In the extemporaneous event those who will draw their topics will be Nellie Bradley, Roland Ellison, Lowell Whitte, Glenn Gardner and Harold Pratt.

The winners of each contest will receive a medal. A. E. Stewart has given the one for oratory, P. M. Ellison for declamations. And Prin. F. O. Holt for extemporaneous. T. B. Earle has given a beautiful cup to the class receiving the most points in both preliminary and final contest.

SWANSON FUNERAL IS HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Last Services for Edgerton Man Who Died Following Operation at Beloit Hospital.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, April 17.—The funeral of Charles Swanson was held at the Norwegian Lutheran church at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Swanson has been very sick for some and about a week ago underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Beloit hospital. Owing to his long illness Mr. Swanson was unable to survive after the operation.

Mr. Swanson was past forty-nine years of age and has been connected with various firms of this city and was greatly admired and respected by the people here.

Those who are left to mourn his death are a son and two daughters. His son, Charles, is a prominent young man in this city and has been connected for the past few years with Eisner Bros., who operate a large warehouse here.

The pallbearers were Fred Jensen, T. A. Ellingson, E. M. Lodd, Charles Adolphson, Nels Nelson and Sam Peterson.

So in offering you a choice of many colors and shades of the best paints and varnishes the market affords, at greatly reduced prices, we're trying to better your house, make more cheerful your household.

Valspar

"The Varnish that won't turn White."

Water-Proof, Soap-Proof, Sanitary.

Valspar is absolutely unharmed by washing with hot water. You can wash it as often as you desire.

Use Valspar wherever there is incidental exposure to dampness and water.

Use it in the pantry, kitchen and bathroom.

Use Valspar on all outdoor woodwork, such as front doors, porch furniture, etc.

Use Valspar on the dining-room table—hot tea or coffee won't spot it.

Before launching your boat Valspar it inside and out.

Valspar is guaranteed. And the price is reduced here during this sale.

Valspar, 65c per pint, $1.25 per quart, $2.50 per half gallon, $4.50 per gallon.

Chi-Namel

The Economical Varnish. Made in Natural (clear) and Colors.

Cheapest by the year—because it outwears all other varnishes on floors, doors, furniture etc.

Cheapest by the yard—because a gallon covers one-third more surface than any other architectural varnish.

Cheapest by the day—because it takes a third less time on the part of the workman to brush it upon a given surface. The reason for this is that it is made of the best material that makes varnish; it is not adulterated with either rosin or benzine and by a special process of treating Chinese Oil receives a toughness, elasticity and water resisting quality which it is impossible to obtain from any other oil.

You can hammer it, scratch it or boil it; it will neither turn white or lose its gloss.

Best for new buildings; best for old ones.

For furniture or any wood or metal surface.

What Is Alabastine?

Alabastine is a beautiful, sanitary, durable and economical material for use on all interior wall surfaces.

Alabastine in white or tints comes prepared for use in dry powder form requiring only the mixing with either cold or warm water.

Alabastine is applied with any good flat wall or kalsomine brush.

Alabastine may be applied to rough or smooth plaster, cement, brick, wood or canvas.

Alabastine is sanitary in its nature, beautiful in its effects, easy to mix and apply, and too superior to be compared with ordinary kalsomine.

Alabastine regular tints and white may be combined and intermixed to produce innumerable tint effects.

Alabastine is more artistic than wall paper, more effective than paint, more permanent than kalsomine.

Adamantine Floor Paints

ARE THE BEST FLOOR PAINTS MADE.

They are not composed of cheap minerals or cement with worthless rosin dryers but are composed of the best materials obtainable, suitable for the purpose, and such as years of experience have proven is required to withstand the extremely hard wear to which Floor Paint is subjected.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE—A new floor needs two coats. Have the floor thoroughly cleaned and if it's an old floor have it free from grease and be sure it is dry. Stir the paint well and do not thin. Allow two or three days between coats. You can walk on the floor 18 hours after painting but before the second coat is applied be sure the floor is dry.

Prices specially reduced during this sale.

Jewel Wall Flat

Jewel Wall Flat is especially adapted for interior decorations where soft, velvet, flat effects are desired. The use of Jewel Wall Flat will verify the following statements.

The Shades are clear, tasty and popular.

The Colors and the White are permanent.

Being rich with oil, it sets slowly and will not show laps, crack, chalk or peel off.

Has durability which permits of repeated washing.

Non-poisonous and not disagreeable to apply.

Leaves a satisfactory surface for refinishing.

Ideal as an undercoat for enamels and glaze colors.

Economical, due to good body, large covering capacity and ease of application.

Sanitary, as it is germ-proof, damp-proof and non-absorbent.

Splendid for refinishing old window shades.

Prices very much lower than usual during this sale.

Prices reduced during this sale.

30c per pint, 55c per quart, $1.00 per half gallon, $1.90 per gallon.

Jewel Ready-Mixed Paints

Pure prepared paint is a perfect paint and is unsurpassed for durability. Properly used it will retain its finish and wear better than lead and oil mixed by hand. We guarantee Jewel Ready Mixed Paints to be composed of pure white lead, pure oxide of zinc and pure linseed oil, and coloring pigments and contains no adulterant. Give it a trial on your next work.

Prices reduced during this sale.

30c per pint, 55c per quart, $1.00 per half gallon, $1.90 per gallon.

Window Shade Cloths

The famous Gold Seal Shade Cloth is a Hand Made Shade Cloth essentially different from all other brands. It is painted on muslin which is heavier, closer woven and of better grade of cotton than any other, not excepting those shade cloths which sell at a much higher price.

The paints, without exception, are made of chemically pure colors and are therefore unfading colors.

Priced very much lower than usual, during this sale.

Paint Brushes Reduced To a Minimum

We have a full line of brushes for painting purposes, all of the best obtainable quality. Brushes for every kind of painting work, all of which are priced at low during this sale that the profit is all shot to pieces.

If you have any intention of repainting or varnishing, come to this sale and secure the very best quality the market affords at prices that can't help but save you a good round sum of money.

CONTEST IS OPENED TO LARGER NUMBER

Boys Under Twenty Years May Enter
Gazette's Corn Raising Competition.

By raising the age limit from sixteen years to twenty for the Gazette's corn raising contest, the field of competition is greatly enlarged and while it will mean that the contestants will find it necessary to increase the attention and industry to be applied still the Gazette feels justified in making the change for the reason that a larger number may be served.

All who have entered the contest at this time and those who are contemplating the move have doubtless begun their plans for the campaign. It is well to select your piece of ground at once and it is now possible to make the correct selection after reading what Mr. Raessler has had to say on this subject in his previous articles.

As was pointed out in the second article the preparation of the soil is of prime importance, as a thorough harrowing means a conservation of moisture for the dry days of July and August when cultivation will no longer be possible. Get the fertilizer on the land at once and everything in readiness for plowing and planting as early in May as it will be advisable. Mr. Raessler will describe important details of this part of the work in the next few articles. The fine warm day of the present week indicates an early corn planting season which usually means a good crop in Wisconsin.

Send in your entry as soon as possible and begin preparations at once. May 3rd is the last day for to send in your name and means that the time is fast drawing to a close. The prizes in this event are substantial and well worth your while. In addition you will have an acre of the best kind of corn from which you should be able to realize a fine profit with seed corn.

REV. J. W. LAUGHLIN AWARDED HIGH HONOR

Elected Commissioner to the General
Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Atlanta,
Georgia.

Rev. J. W. Laughlin, D. D. of this city, was yesterday elected by the Madison Presbyterian Commission to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which meets in Atlanta, Georgia, May 15, 1913.

This is a privilege which comes to a Presbyterian minister only occasionally in a lifetime. Dr. Laughlin has been twice honored by Madison Presbyterian twice within the last five years. This is the annual meeting of the National Presbyterian body. Matters affecting the Presbyterian church throughout the United States and the world will be under discussion. Additional interest attaches itself to this meeting in that the Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church and the Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church will be in session in the same city at the same time. It is confidently expected that some action will be taken looking toward a union of these Presbyterian bodies.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher

BY WALT MASON

Oh, this is the season when man's feeling sluggish, his system is loaded with various ills; he spends all his troubles for remedies, druggish, and swallows five bushels of vitrified pills. His blood is depraved and his liver is balky, there's tur on his tongue and a boll on his knee, and often he longs when he's feeling so S. F. R. I. N. G. rocky, for butdook and REMEDIES bonaset and sasafra tea. Ah, where is the noble old beldame who brewed it, the tea of our fathers, that healed them so quick? The beldame who boiled it and stirred it, and stewed it, and flooded the works of the folks who were sick? She's gone, the yarb woman! A foolish world mocked her, she's sailing alone on a cuscara sea, and now we must go to the druggist and doctor, we can't have a swig of her sasafra tea. By blood's out of whack and my stomach is fussy, I go to the druggist, the ailing man's hope; he mixes some poison that's messy and mussy, and charges three bones for a dime's worth of dope. My disphragm's sore and my collar bone itches, from pain and discomfort I seldom am free, and often I yearn for the old fashioned witch who brewed up their cauldrons of sasafra tea.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY
You are warned against quarrels, legions of otherwise, as they will prove unfortunate for you. With care, it is possible for you to have a prosperous year. Your family affairs will please you and romance will come into your life.

Those born today will be impulsive and fickle, causing much resentment among their friends. In worldly matters they will be rather shrewd and successful, gaining positions of trust and responsibility.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

CONVICTIONS.

By Howard L. Rann.

A CONVICTION is a belief with a long root which can be changed with as much ease as a safety razor blade. The older a man gets the harder it is for him to pull up a conviction by the roots and replace it with something that looks like orange gelatin.

There are several kinds of convictions, but far and away the most popular are political convictions. Some men get along nicely without any convictions whatever on any subject until they become a candidate for congress, when they are immediately attacked by a number of servile convictions which will not injure any local industry.

Very few politicians use the same line of convictions in every campaign, as it keeps them too busy explaining their vote to the prying country editor.

Social convictions are those which prevent people from appearing in society what they feel like inside. This kind of a conviction will cause a man to squeeze into a dress suit fifteen years old and put up a losing fight against a seven-course dinner, without being able to pronounce a word on the menu when he would rather be at home trying to trip up the game of solitaire. It also causes many a woman to invite to dinner friends of her husband, who don't know a salad fork from any other farm implement, in order to push along a business deal.

Religious convictions are of two sorts—transient and permanent. The first of these is a comfortable variety which can be worn on Sunday with the utmost composure and replaced the rest of the week with sharp practice. Permanent religious convictions are those which do not have to be renewed at every revival meeting, but show their durable qualities by doing a powerful sight of good without making any noise about it.

Every person should collect a few heat-treated convictions and then stick to them, whether it hurts or not. The man with convictions which stick out and interfere with the law breaker will never be popular, but he will be able to dress in the morning without turning the mirror to the wall.

Useless Worry.
"Much of our worry is useless."
"Yes, it is. I once bought some stock in a rubber grove and worried two winters about frost before I ascertained that the trees hadn't yet been planted."

Plenty of Room.
Fame's eternal camping ground is never overcrowded.

Religious convictions are of two sorts—transient and permanent. The first of these is a comfortable variety which can be worn on Sunday with the utmost composure and replaced the rest of the week with sharp practice. Permanent religious convictions are those which do not have to be renewed at every revival meeting, but show their durable qualities by doing a powerful sight of good without making any noise about it.

Every person should collect a few heat-treated convictions and then stick to them, whether it hurts or not. The man with convictions which stick out and interfere with the law breaker will never be popular, but he will be able to dress in the morning without turning the mirror to the wall.

Useless Worry.
"Much of our worry is useless."
"Yes, it is. I once bought some stock in a rubber grove and worried two winters about frost before I ascertained that the trees hadn't yet been planted."

Plenty of Room.
Fame's eternal camping ground is never overcrowded.

There are several kinds of convictions, but far and away the most popular are political convictions. Some men get along nicely without any convictions whatever on any subject until they become a candidate for congress, when they are immediately attacked by a number of servile convictions which will not injure any local industry.

Very few politicians use the same line of convictions in every campaign, as it keeps them too busy explaining their vote to the prying country editor.

Social convictions are those which prevent people from appearing in society what they feel like inside. This kind of a conviction will cause a man to squeeze into a dress suit fifteen years old and put up a losing fight against a seven-course dinner, without being able to pronounce a word on the menu when he would rather be at home trying to trip up the game of solitaire. It also causes many a woman to invite to dinner friends of her husband, who don't know a salad fork from any other farm implement, in order to push along a business deal.

How Many Babies in Janesville?

Nobody knows; and anyway its not the number of babies, but the number of mothers that need a baby cab, that started this query.

Just a few nights ago a Janesville mother advertised a baby cab for sale in The Gazette Classified Page.

Before supper time that night she had a number of inquiries and before bed time over thirty had telephoned to ask about it. The next day a number of people came to see her and that night the telephone rang again many times with prospective buyers.

Just how many called she does not know but far more than fifty mothers made inquiries. Needless to say the cab was sold.

Spring is the time to sell baby cabs but no more is it time to take baby riding than it is to clean house, with buying and selling of second hand furniture a necessary part; garden making, with all kinds of used tools in ready demand; moving time, with flats and houses at a premium and an endless list of other things that the season makes salable.

Reaching 6000 families every day the Gazette Classified Page offers a market for these things that cannot be reached in any other way.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ONE THING AFTER ANOTHER.

WHEN the babes get the chicken-pox and you break your very best cloisonne vase, and your least beloved aunt writes that she is going to make you a visit, and your maid threatens to leave if you have any more company, and someone spills a dish of soup on your best gown at the church supper, and to cap it all, that terrible neuralgia, which you dread more than anything on earth, pays you a visit, you are sure to sigh deeply and say, "Well, it's one thing after another."

But when your children miraculously escape the whooping cough despite the fact that they were repeatedly exposed to it, when you replace the disgraceful maid by one so perfect that you are almost afraid of your good fortune, when your aunt writes that she is sorry to break the news, but she will have to postpone her visit indefinitely, and your wealthy cousin brings you half a dozen pairs of Paris gloves on her return from a trip abroad, when your new evening gown which you designed yourself turns out such a success that everyone compliments you upon it, and the fashion leader of your coterie asks if it is a Paquin, when to cap it all, your husband gets a substantial raise and celebrates by giving you the set of milk furs you have so long hopelessly desired, do you then remember to say "It's one thing after another," meaning one pleasant thing after another?

Probably not.

And yet, on the whole, don't the pleasant little things follow one another just about as persistently as the troubles? Isn't it one pleasant thing after another, just about as much as one disagreeable thing?

I think it is. Only sometimes we seem to take the pleasant things for granted, while we resent the unpleasant happenings as something unfairly and unjustly foisted upon us. The confident belief which we all seem to have that happiness is the divine right of mankind and that anything else is an injustice is almost amusing. "If angels have any sense of humor how we must divert them," Horace Walpole once said. I wonder whether they laugh or weep at the way in which we forget our blessings and resent our misfortunes.

No life can be all happiness or all unhappiness. There are times in all lives when the misfortunes seem to preponderate, and other times when happiness seems to tip the beam. Of course we can't help regretting our mishaps, but let's try to appreciate our blessings at least as much if not more, and whenever happiness DOES tip the beam let's not forget to say "Life is one good thing after another."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

WHEN the wild-plum blossoms in the lane
Time for dainty fairy dreamings whispered low
By the woodland daisy people as we go
Time to loiter and make glad among the flowers—
Oh, this is a heartsome place, this world of ours.

NUTS IN COMBINATION.

Add a few chopped hazel nuts or filberts to the next custard pie, and see what a delicious combination it makes. Nuts and bread crumbs used for stuffing of peppers, tomatoes or onions will take the place of meat most satisfactorily.

Peanuts and Rice.—Take two cups of well salted and cooked rice; while hot stir in a cup of peanut butter, a cup of cracker crumbs, a half cupful of milk, and two eggs well beaten. Shape in a rounding loaf and place in a well buttered pan. Bake until a nice brown, and serve hot with parsley. This is a most delicious loaf for children or any one who does not eat meat.

Nuts with apples or cabbage, in fact with any fruit or vegetable, makes a good salad.

Walnut Loaf.—Take a cup of chopped walnut meats, four cups of bread crumbs, one hard cooked egg, one onion grated, salt and sage to taste, with sufficient milk or water to moisten the mixture.

This loaf may be served either hot or cold. Mix and mold, and bake in a well buttered bread pan.

Walnut Croquettes.—Mix together a cup of walnut meats, a cup of cooked rice or hominy, a bit of green pepper chopped, one egg well beaten and seasoning to taste. Milk may be added if needed for moisture. Mold into neat croquettes and fry in deep fat.

Almond Cookies.—Mix together a pound of ground almonds and a pound of sugar, add a tablespoonful each of allspice, cloves and cinnamon, a teaspoonful of anise extract, four eggs well beaten, and flour to mix, with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Roll out thin, cut in diamonds or rounds, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon, decorate with three almonds and bake until brown.

SUFFRAGETS AWFUL, SAYS ANTI IN U. S.

Mrs. Maurice Gifford.

The Honorable Mrs. Gifford, widow of the late Colonel Gifford, fourth son of the second Baron Gifford of England, is now in the United States. She has some decided views concerning votes for women and expresses herself on the subject with the same independence which she displays in smoking cigars at all times and in the presence of all sorts of people.

"The terrible things the women are doing in England is disgraceful," she says. "If I had my say, I would deport them all to a desert island. The women will never be able to gain their desired ends by methods they employed recently in London."

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save your hair! Danderine destroys dandruff and stops falling hair at Once—Grows Hair, we prove it—Absolutely Harmless

If you care for heavy hair, that glazes with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scourer robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. It eventually—why not now? A 25-cent bottle will truly amaze you.

The Masculine Love of Comfort versus Beauty

It is strange to me," said Kate to her old school chum, "that with your love of beauty, you would choose a town like this to live in. It's the most commonplace, unattractive spot I've seen in this section of the country. And when there are so many beautiful places to live in, why in the world live in so ugly a one."

"I wouldn't, if I didn't have to," replied her chum somewhat bitterly. "Believe me, I never picked out this town. It was Jack's choice. There is good train service between here and the place where he works. And that settled the question. I suppose if this had been a dumping ground, but trains convenient for him stopped here, he would have chosen it. Men only think of utility or comfort. They never give a thought to beauty."

"I guess you are right," said Kate. "Unless a man is an artist, or has an artistic bent, he doesn't think much about beauty, except as it is displayed in a woman. And even then, I can't say I always admire the taste some men show. But in their home, what men are after is comfort. They can sit quite serenely in a room whose wall paper would give a woman hysterics. Probably if you asked them the design or color of the paper, they wouldn't know; and they can look out of their windows on the most hideous surroundings imaginable without even a thought of how much pleasanter it would be to look on something pretty. I wonder why it is?"

"I don't know," replied her chum. "Unless it is because they work so hard, their only longing in life is for comfort."

"That may be true of some men but not of all. I have been in business offices where the men are by no means working themselves into an early grave, and yet I have never seen more unattractive places. It would give me the horrors to live day in and day out in such a place as some of these offices are. But the men there seem absolutely oblivious to the sordidness of their surroundings."

"Men are queer propositions," retorted her friend. "I have fairly begged Jack to move to some prettier place, but he says, 'Oh, we're comfortable here, and it costs less to live here than it would in some other places.' And so here we stick. I think beauty is as essential to life as comfort. But you can't make a man see it."

"No, you can't," said Kate. "That's just the way it is."

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

When some is left over after drinking all that is desired, many good things may be made from it, such as soup, breads, biscuits, corn bread, corn cakes, ginger bread, ginger cakes, Boston brown bread and muffins. Below will be found a few recipes which are especially good made from this healthful and popular beverage.

Quick Buttermilk Bread.
Materials—Flour one pint, salt one teaspoon, cream of tartar two teaspoons, soda one teaspoon, buttermilk one cup.

Directions—Sift together flour, salt, cream of tartar and soda. Stir it into buttermilk. Make into a loaf, score it across and bake in a moderate oven three-quarters of an hour.

Buttermilk Biscuit.
Materials—Buttermilk one cupful, soda one-half teaspoon, salt one-half teaspoon, butter or other fat three tablespoons, flour.

Directions—To the buttermilk, soda, salt and butter or other fat, add sifted flour to make a dough. Knead until smooth and elastic as for light bread. Roll out one-half inch thick, cut out, brush over with cream and sprinkle with granulated sugar and bake in a quick oven for ten or fifteen minutes.

Buttermilk Corn Bread.
Materials—Buttermilk one pint, salt one teaspoon, soda one teaspoon, egg one, cornmeal one pint, whole wheat flour one-fourth cup, sugar one tablespoon.

Directions—Mix the buttermilk, soda, salt, well beaten egg, cornmeal and flour, add sugar if desired. Bake in a dripping pan or gem pans in a quick oven.

Buttermilk for Invalids.
Materials—Buttermilk one pint, butter one teaspoon, honey, ginger pinch, salt pinch.

Directions—Heat buttermilk, very hot in a double boiler. When ready to serve to the patient, toast a thick slice of whole wheat bread and put into a soup plate. Season the buttermilk with a teaspoonful of butter and sweeten with a little honey and add a pinch of good ginger and salt. Pour this hot over the toast and serve.

Often Good for Babies.
Sometimes a little buttermilk for babies, when sweet milk does not agree with them, and given by teaspoonfuls, is most excellent, and many times invalids can take buttermilk when no other nourishment can be retained on the stomach. Buttermilk is particularly recommended for all troubled with colic, rheumatic tendencies and those with liver troubles, but as with the sweet milk, it must be clean, pure and made from pasteurized milk and kept under clean, cool, sanitary conditions in the home.

Using Up Old Jelly.
My jelly shelves were being rapidly depleted of the finest jellies. There was no use of serving old or sugary jellies to my family, for they refused to eat them. I gathered all the jelly over a year old and used it for liquid in making mince meat, with delicious results.

Then I decided to try using our winter apples, for which there is no convenient market. As a result, I have more than 50 glasses of jelly, clear, sparkling and quivery. Some of the apples were cooked in canned fruit juices, thus making jellies of different flavors and colors, but all transparent and beautiful.

The amount of first-class jelly I could have made was only limited by time and apples.

Good Spring Medicine.
In winter the body gets clogged with waste matter. That is why so many people in the spring go to the doctor and say:

"I wish you would prepare me a good tonic. I am all run down and housecleaning time is coming on."

He will give you some drugs that stimulate for a while, but it is only artificial strength.

If you are weak, run down, constipated and feeling old, just try one glass of pure grape juice with two tablespoonfuls of olive oil before breakfast, and the same at midday, every day. Keep this up until you feel strong. Don't stop it in a month.

Purchased grape juice will do, but I would advise the home-made. You see, the grape juice contains starch and sugar, and that is what we need for strength.

The olive oil can be obtained at almost any grocery store. Do not get the dark green which is made from unripe olives. What we want is the oil obtained from the ripest olives, and this is of a light green. The oil will help to carry the bad germs from the system.

The Table.
Oatmeal Rocks—Beat half cup butter with one cup sugar to a cream, then add two well-beaten eggs, two-thirds cup milk, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two cups rolled oats, two cups seeded raisins, spices to taste and one even teaspoon baking soda dissolved in four tablespoonfuls cold water. Mix and drop by teaspoonful on greased baking tins; bake in a hot oven 10 minutes.

Banana and Pineapple Dessert.—Peel and cut ripe bananas into thin slices; add grated pineapple, sweetened to taste, allowing about one tablespoonful to each banana. Serve this in sherbet or ice cream glasses, with a tablespoonful of whipped cream on top of each.

WHITE LACE DRESS FOR SUMMER WEAR

GIRL DISMAYS GANG BY HER CONFESSION

Miss Lucille Sturgis.

A pretty girl named Lucille Sturgis brought dismay to the Shea gang, accused of many robberies in San Francisco, by confessing her part in the robberies and implicating the five other members of the gang. All but two of the band are women. They operated within the very shadow of the police station. Their apartments, located across the road from the station, were filled with thousands of dollars worth of loot.

Joyous Route.
Seductively put to sleep by orange blossom extract, the most unimaginative woman can clearly distinguish a bridal chorus, even visualizing the matron of honor's gown and all the other stage properties to go to the birthday festival of every woman's life. Euphorized by orange blossoms, if the worse should come, could Paradise be approached by a route more essentially feminine?

Few Complete Education.
In the country, as a whole, less than half the children finish the first six school grades; only about one in four ever enters high school and less than five in one hundred go to college.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a maiden of twenty-seven and have been keeping company with a gentleman two years. My senior. We are together four nights a week, but as yet I cannot get him to show his affection. "Do you suppose he loves me?" (2)—"There is a new fellow" come to town, and I would like to meet him. When we meet on the street, he smiles at me. Would it be all right for me to speak to him the next time I meet him and ask him up to tea? (3)—I have rather a large nose, with a mole on one side. What can I do to remove the mole, and the size of my nose? (4)—Is it proper to put crackers in your soup? Some do and others don't. I would like to know. (5)—I won't act lawley. (6)—Is it all right to attend public dances? (7)—Is it proper for girls to go to another town and stay all night at the same hotel that their boy friends do. (7)—

How late should a couple engaged sit up, and is it all right for the girl to sit on his knee. SKINNY JANE.

(1)—If he has spent four nights a week with him for two years he must see something attractive in you. You must give him credit for being a "sticker." (2)—Get somebody to introduce him to you, then ask him to tea. (3)—Afraid I can't help you Skinny. Cultivate a pleasant smile under the nose. (4)—Yes, if you like them so. (5)—I think you are old enough to be safe. (6)—No. (7)—Ten o'clock is late enough. She shouldn't sit there long enough to give him a cramp in it.

Old-Fashioned Spring Tonic Is The Best

(From National Health Journal.)

Statistics show that not one person in fifty escapes from the strains of winter without good health. Due to various causes, the system becomes clogged with impurities and the liver, kidneys and bowels fail to perform their functions properly. As a result we have faded, sallow complexions, liver spots, "spring fever," lost appetite, no energy—in fact, feel sick without knowing the cause.

For correcting these disorders there is nothing so effective as to equal the old-fashioned karene tonic which can be made at home at small cost. Get an ounce of karene from any druggist and dissolve in one-half pint alcohol, then add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a quart.

A tablespoonful before each meal sounds the system of impurities, clears the skin and restores the whole body to its normal, healthy condition. Advertisement.

A Marvel for Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Send at Once for Free Trial Package.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ. Good-bye, sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, sweaty feet, smelly feet, tired feet. Good-bye, corns, calluses and bunions and raw spots. You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything before sold. It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and comfortable. TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous excretions which bring on soreness of the feet and is the only remedy that does. Mrs. F. J. Androcks, Jamaica, Long Island, found this out. She says: "I tried so many different remedies but none seem to draw out the inflammation and poisons like TIZ has done for me. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet. You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your toes, bunions and calluses. You'll feel like a new person. Remember thousands of other people have experimented with substitutes for TIZ without getting relief until they used the genuine. So when anyone asks you to experiment tell him you won't be the goat. TIZ is for sale at all drug stores, department and general stores at 25 cents per box or it will be sent you direct. Money back if TIZ doesn't do all we say. For a free trial package, write today to Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill."

THE PURCHASE PRICE; OR, THE CAUSE OF COMPROMISE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Copyright, 1910, by Emerson Hough

"I was not. Of course I was not. I am the Countess St. Auban. It is not necessary for me to serve any man in any capacity. I beg you to forget that little note from me. I was only frightened at the thought of a long journey which I did not know then might end so soon. I only fancied I was in need of help."

"Tell me one thing," he began irrelevantly. "You are countess, as you say. Who is your husband, and where is he?"

"You have no right to ask. I must leave you now. Ah, if, indeed, I had a protector here—some man of that country where men fight!"

"You shall not leave. But this passes belief. It is insult. It is simple outrage! What is being done with me? I never saw Captain Carlisle until three days ago, and you have met me once before this moment! And you are a southerner, and they tell me—"

"That once was enough. You shall not leave. If you did I should only follow you."

"How excellent, to be taken by one brigand, handed over to another brigand, and threatened with perpetual attendance of the latter. Oh, excellent indeed! Admirable country!"

"You despise the offer of one who would be a respectful servant."

She looked at him. "It is most noble of you. I do not, however, comprehend."

The dull flush on his face showed at least no weakening on his own part. "Come now!" he exclaimed impatiently. "Let us arrive at the issue. To make it short, madam, I propose to take you home with me. Now, you have heard it. He spoke in a desperate, icy calm. "You flatter me! But how, if I may ask, do you intend to accomplish all that?"

"I have not thought so far along. In peace, if you please; it would be much better."

"But," she exclaimed, pausing in her walk up and down, "you speak as though you meant these things! Could it be there, out there—beyond the great river—yes, my other father told me that we were not to stop this side."

"I hardly know what I mean," he answered miserably. "I like all this no better than yourself. But let us begin with what is certain. Each hour, each day I may be able to hold you here is that much gained. I can't let you go."

"Most excellent! You begin well. But I shall not submit to such insults longer."

"It is too late!" he broke in. "I know how much I have taken leave of my own self respect, but there are times when one takes leave of everything—cares for nothing that lies between him and one purpose. It would do no good for you to claim the protection of others. Even if I had to fight all the boat's officers I might win. But in that case you could only lose. You would have to explain who you are, why you are here. You would not be believed."

"Let us see if we cannot reason calmly over this matter." She was suddenly cold and pale. The hand of a swift terror was upon her now. "You ask me to reason, and I answer I have no reason left. I know that if you left me I should never see you again."

"But what difference, then? You are, I presume, only my new constant." "There could be no social chance for me. I've ruined that. You would exact defeat of me as surely as you met me there."

"Social chance? Social! What can you possibly think yourself to be but my new jailer?" "I'm not so sure. Look, each turn of the wheels take us farther away from the places where society goes on in its own grooves. Out here we manage the world in our own ways."

"Unconsciously the eyes of both of them turned down the river, along which the boat now steadily continued its course. He went on soberly.

"Out there," he said, pointing toward the west, "out beyond the big river, there's a place where the wilderness sweeps. Out there the law is that of the old times. It is far away. I'm going to hold you, keep you! You shall not get away. Why?" he added, pacing apart for a moment. "I have no shame left. I've planned very little. I thought I might even ask you to be a guest at my own plantation. My place is out on the edge of the world, thirty miles back from the river."

"That, then, is your robber castle, I suppose?" "I rule there, madam," he said simply. "Over thral and guest?"

"Over all who come there, madam." "I've heard of the time," she went on idly. "When this country was younger, how the lords who held right under the old French kings claimed the law of the high, low and middle justice. Life, death, honor, all lay in their hands—in the hands of individuals. But I thought those times past. I thought the south had gentlemen!"

"You taunt me, my dear lady—my dear girl. But be not so sure that times have changed. Out beyond there, where we are going, I could put you a mile back from the river, and you would find yourself in a wilderness the most pathless and lawless in the world today."

She looked at him, some inarticulate sort of sound in her throat, fully frightened now, seeing how mistaken she had been. He went on: "Out there in the big valleys beyond the river you would indeed disappear. No man could guess what had become of you. You would never be found again. There's where you're going. Your other father told you the truth."

She looked at him slowly and fully now, the color fading from her face. She temporized. "Listen! Do you ever stop to reflect what you are doing, how you are abandoning yourself, your own traditions, your own duties, when you speak as you have been speaking to me? I had committed no crime. I am held by no process of law. You take risks."

"I know. I have thrown it all away in the balance. If these things were known I would be ruined." He spoke dully and evenly, indifferently. "You are not living up to your standards."

"No, but I cannot make you understand me. I cannot make you understand that the great thing of life isn't the foolish ambition of a man to get into a state legislature, to make laws, to see them enforced. It isn't the original purpose of man to get on in politics or business or social regard. Man is made to love some woman. Woman is made to be loved by some man. That's life! It's all of it. I know there is nothing else."

"Excellent for you to force such talk upon a woman who is helpless."

"Talk doesn't help, but deeds will. You're going along with me. I would swear you belonged to me if I need be, as I intend you some day shall. Don't tempt me. Don't try to drive me. It will never do. I'll be harder to handle than the man who lost you to me last evening in a game of cards and who went away last night and left you to me."

"A game—a game at cards! And I was lost—I! And also won? What can you mean? Am I then indeed a slave, a chattel? Ah, indeed, now am I lost! My God, and I have no country, no kin, no God, to avenge me!"

A sort of sob caught in his throat. "I was wrong!" he cried suddenly. "I always say the wrong word, do the wrong thing, take the wrong way. But I tell you I cannot otherwise. And I've told the truth. I've made wreck of everything right now. You ask me to make plans, and I tell you I cannot. I would take you off the boat by force rather than see you go away from me."

A sudden revulsion swept over him. He trembled as he stood and reached out a hand. "Give me a chance," he broke out, sobbing now. "It was a new thing, this feeling. Come, you sent for me—you asked me—that other man placed me in his stead as your guardian. He didn't know I would not in this way, that's true. I own I've been brutal. Give me my chance. Let me try again."

They both were silent for awhile, but at length she resumed, not so ungrudgingly. "Then let there be this contract between us, sir. Neither of us shall make any further scene. We'll temporize since we can do no better. I gave parole once. I'll not give it again, but I'll go little farther on westward until I decide what to do."

"Be my enemy even," he said, "only do not leave me. I'll not let you go." Their conversation was brought to an end by sounds of hurrying feet upon the decks above them. The hoarse boom of the steamer's whistle indicated an intended landing. A swift thought of possible escape came to the mind of Josephine St. Auban. When Dunwoody turned in his troubled pacing up and down the narrow floor of the cabin he found himself alone.

But when presently, as the boat drew in along the dock, she made ready to go ashore with her servant to take care of the luggage it was the captain of the Mount Vernon himself who came to meet her.

"I am sorry, madam," he began, his cap in hand, "but your passage was booked farther down the river than this point. You are mistaken. This is not Cairo."

"You are mistaken. This is not Cairo." "What of that, sir? Is it not the privilege of a passenger to stop at any intermediate point?"

"Not in this case, madam." "You shall suffer for this," she exclaimed. "There must be a law somewhere in this country."

"That is true, madam," said the captain. "And that is the trouble. I'm

Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from some form of feminine disorder is told that an operation is necessary, it of course frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital operating table and the surgeon's knife strikes terror to her heart, and no wonder. It is quite true that some of these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but thousands of women have avoided the necessity of an operation by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This fact is attested by the grateful letters they write to us after their health has been restored.

These Two Women Prove Our Claim

Cary, Maine.—"I feel it a duty to owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost anything."

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman submit to a surgical operation without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with women's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs. It has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., CONFIDENTIAL, LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

How To Get Strong

Doctors agree that the only way to gain strength is through food that is taken into the system. That is why a pure food medicine, such as Father John's Medicine, makes strength by means of its nourishing body-building elements which are easily taken into the system.

Those who are weak and run down have the best chance to regain flesh and strength during the summer months. How best to gain weight is told in the following interviews: Capt. H. F. Rehberg, 60 Carnation St., Pawtucket, R. I., says: "I gained 18 pounds while I was taking Father John's Medicine."

Mrs. C. A. Goodwin of Blossburg, Pa., says: "My boy gained 30 pounds while he was taking Father John's Medicine. It is a grand body builder." "I gained 20 pounds taking Father John's Medicine," says N. Crosby, 2161 8th Ave., New York City.

If you have any difficulty in securing Father John's Medicine from your druggist write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1.00 for a large bottle by express prepaid.

Policeman Alexander Kilmer of Johnstown, N. Y., says that while he was taking Father John's Medicine he gained 15 pounds. "I gained 40 pounds by taking Father John's Medicine, and recommend it as a body builder," says Chas. Florence, 58 Stagg St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Remember that Father John's Medicine builds you up because it contains the exact kind of nourishment that blood and tissue are made of. It is a pure and wholesome food medicine for those who are weak and run down. It does not contain Alcohol or dangerous drugs.

STRONG OPPOSITION TO PROPOSED PLAN, SCHOOL MANAGEMENT

Supt. Cary and Others Oppose County
Education Board System on Grounds of Legality.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., April 17.—The Millar bill establishing a county board of education to supersede the county superintendent was vigorously opposed before the assembly committee on education yesterday afternoon, more on the ground of its alleged unconstitutionality than through disapproval of the principle sought to be enacted into law. Prof. C. E. Patzer of the Milwaukee normal school considered the bill a more practical measure at this time and believed it was within constitutional limits.

Superintendent Cary approved of the board system as proposed although doubting whether the bill would effect the result desired. He did not think it could meet the situation because of its alleged unconstitutionality.

Recognize Obstacles.
The school people recognize and do not minimize the obstacles in the way of improvement in conditions. He said, "The first big problem was to get enough competent teachers to man the 6,500 schools in the state. The second was to give the rural schools proper supervision. None understand the question better than the county superintendents themselves. In the face of the many difficulties, some of which were sociological in character, the wonder is that the rural schools had done as well as they had."

Assemblyman Millar briefly presented a history of the movement for county boards of education, which started with the state teachers' association, and was brought up in the 1909 legislature, when an investigation committee was appointed. He named Supt. Cary, Prof. Cheever of the Milwaukee normal school, Prof. Elliott of the university, and President Harvey of Stout Institute, as being in favor of the movement at that time. He then traced his own attempts during the 1911 legislature for a reorganization of the rural schools.

Favored the Principle.
Mr. Fitzpatrick said he did not come to argue specifically for the Millar bill, but stood rather for the principle embodied in it. The Millar bill, he said, was recognized as not being a solution of the whole problem, but the administrative feature of it was necessary to make permanent the changes recommended in the Hall bill on consolidation of rural schools.

Axel Johnson's bill on the new type of rural schools, taken by the way from the board of public affairs report and the various bills for the certification of teachers. The report of the board of public affairs and the confirming statements of Supt. Cary and the committee of fifteen are ample evidence that a reorganization of the rural schools of Wisconsin is necessary.

Commissioner Claxton of the United States bureau of education was then quoted to show that the reorganization is needed in every state in the Union. The only question is what shall be the nature of the change. Supt. Cary, committee of fifteen, normal school presidents, unanimously, two very large committees for the university and the state board of public affairs all point to the fact that an elective county board of education which would in turn appoint a county superintendent is the change that should be made.

Reviews Provisions.
Mr. Fitzpatrick then reviewed in detail the provisions of the Millar bill and pointed out the fundamental difference between that and the Ve-bahn bill. He said that the popular election of a county board of education

(1) places the general responsibility of the educational system where it belongs—with the people;
(2) it provides a small elective board capable of determining the general educational policies of the county;

(3) it makes possible uniform standards for the county;
(4) it provides a board of counsel and advise with the county supervisor;

(5) it eliminates to a great degree the possibility of local quarrels and prevents much friction;

(6) The election of board members from the county by the education district on ballots containing no party designation at the spring election makes the board non-political.

(7) The provision for unsalaried board members makes it disinterested.

Regards Appointment.
The appointment of the county supervisor of schools by the county board of education:

(1) recognizes the great principle

firmly rooted in our governmental experience after heroic struggles against what seemed insuperable obstacles, that administrative officers who are to carry out policies determined upon by the elective officers, should be appointive.

(2) it removes the supervisor from the field of politics and personal effort and places him on a strictly professional plane.

(3) it provides a board of public-spirited men serving without salary to whom the county supervisor of schools may turn for advice and counsel.

The county supervisor of schools is not to be selected from an eligible list prepared by the civil service commission, but will be selected by the local county board of education from among those who possess the qualifications.

Local District Boards.
There should always be some local agency through which community interest in the county school should find efficient expression. The present board of school directors is a very convenient agency to do this. The existence of a county board of education and an appointive professional supervisor of schools would help to eliminate many of the shortcomings of the boards of school directors. One additional function of the county supervisor of schools would be to help school board directors when requested to, to keep their accounts. The county supervisor of schools should be of great assistance to the school board directors as well as to teachers and especially in the matter of collecting material for and making out reports.

In conclusion he said that any adequate plan of organization dealing with the rural school problem must provide for:

1. The election by the people of a board which will declare what it is the people want to do in and for and with their schools.

2. The appointment by this popularly elected board of a competent person to carry out the policy determined upon.

3. Adequate salaries for the county superintendent, or whatever that officer is called.

4. Allowance of sufficient sums for traveling expenses, and for printing and stationery.

5. Efficient clerical assistance.

6. Sufficient and efficient professional assistance, i. e. assistant county superintendent.

Fads and Fashions

New York, April 17.—Skirts continue to be narrow at the ankles according to the decree of the fashion rulers, but one can retain this effect and still have comparative ease in walking. This is done by draping the skirt so as to give fullness at the knees, and then introducing foot pleats at the hem.

The idea that in order to walk easily one must have a very wide skirt is exploded anyway. Such skirts have a disagreeable habit of wrapping themselves around the knees and ankles, sometimes actually bringing the wearer to a standstill. A skirt two yards in width allows a step of average length and does not have superfluous material in which to become entangled. If one wants more room it may be comforting to remember that groups of side pleats are introduced in many of the Paris models. American women, however, though they admit that these pleats give ease in walking, do not seem inclined to accept them this season, except for short chignon skirts. These are generally made of solid side pleating, with a very narrow underskirt, so narrow, in fact, that it is absolutely necessary to have it slashed.

Long Russian blouses of chiffon or crepe are being shown with many models. These, too, are generally side pleated, either entirely so or simply below the girdle. A variation of this style, seen at a Fifth avenue importer's, was an afternoon gown of deep shrimp pink crepe de Chine. Instead of being side pleated, the long Russian blouse, or tunic, was laid in box pleats about an inch in width. These were merely pressed, not stitched. In place of the usual belt or narrow girdle there was a Cheruit sash of the same material as the dress. This was wound around the waist, then carried to the back and loosely knotted, a little at one side, about half way to the knee.

Some of the pleated chiffon skirts have a contrasting band of silk around the bottom. One in dark blue, for instance, has a ten-inch band of Scotch plaid at the hem. With this skirt a coatee or a Russian blouse of the plaid would be worn.

Waistcoats of all kinds, either actual or simulated, are extremely popular this season. Most of the waistcoats are merely simulated. That is to say, they are not a separate garment, but are merely fronts, or even fragments of fronts, attached to the coat itself. The genuine separate waistcoat, however, is a feature of many imported models and deserves special attention. It is both practical and attractive. Practical, because it gives additional warmth to a light-weight suit in the cool weather of early spring, and also because, when left off entirely, it makes the same suit possible for warmer weather wear.

In Paris they are wearing sleeved waistcoats, so that the outer jacket can be removed, which is scarcely possible when the vest is made like a waistcoat, and, when the actual coat is on, really appears to be only that, it is more like an under jacket.

Among new woolen materials for tailored gowns is the accordion pleated effect, which it seems no amount of pressing can destroy. "Parquet" is the name of a lovely soft woolen fabric that has raised designs exactly resembling an inlaid floor. "Bigoudine," coarse and heavy in effect, but really beautifully light, woven in crooked, fine and coarse threads, something after the manner of "zag-zig," is an idea fabric for summer tailored costumes. The same endorsement can be given to a woolen fabric with a surface like incut velvet, woven in cool olive green and white. With white facings and white buttons for trimmings, the refined effect of this material is easily imagined.

With the same delusive effect of heaviness is a material particularly good in a deep rich violet, but which also appears in all other shades of the season. These new materials will be used as facings for collars and revers as well as for entire costumes, although they are rather expensive.

The plaited or fluted idea is very popular in Paris this season and is gaining favor also in New York. Entire dresses in mousseline, liberty or edienne are plaited in this way, the plaits sometimes marked wide apart, sometimes as accordion plaiting. The lighter the goods the finer the plaits. A plaited dress seen recently was in China blue liberty, with a wide swathed belt of old gold satin. The fine lace which fell about the neck, the décolletage being pointed, was of yellow aigre in color. This particular corsage had the lace wired to stand up slightly, but in other cases the lace falls softly about the neck and bust.

So many of the best evening wraps are trimmed in fur that one might imagine the season that of autumn or winter. The fur is always chinchilla, ermine, or golden taupe, but it is fur nevertheless. Furs are just as fashionable at present as they were a month ago, and the ruling powers of fashion declare that peltry will remain fashionable until very late spring. Not the big, heavy pieces, it is true, but stoles and muffs that so soften and enhance any toilette.

Everything in the way of covering is short and bobbed off this season. The winter coats were rounded and abbreviated, giving little protection against the elements, but they were coquettish and girlish, virtues which appeared at the spring openings were shorter still, being only an excuse for a covering. In fact, many of the coatees cover one only as far as the waist line. A few reach below, but only very few. The pattern for the new cut is generous, for the coatee is supposed merely to drape the figure, to give only the faintest outline of the form.

The separate motif of black Brussels net, embroidered in silk and beaded in Bulgarian colors of red, blue and green, is invaluable in supplying a needed touch of trimming or a bright note of color. Embroidered in old green and blue floss with threads of gold Brussels net is hand-some for a vest or waistcoat. A Bulgarian design on silk braid makes an expensive vesting. A banding of honiton braid and small colored roses applied on a black net ground gives distinction to a cotton crepe.

Silk bands supporting velvet forget-me-nots and roses form a pretty trimming for debutante dresses. An insertion of multi-patterned linen lace on batiste is an ideal trimming for a lingerie dress, as it gives the impression that the banding is woven in as a part of the frock. Beautiful Japanese crepe in a design of bow-knots and flowers would be very smart if used for sleeves or even for a panner. An effective lining for a wrap is the soft pussy-willow crepe, splashed with bouquets of pansies.

The pleated shirt bosom effect is a new feature of this season's blouse. The result is entirely soft and feminine.

Yokes are used on the majority of blouses, especially those that form part of a one-piece frock.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

Myers Theatre

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

At the Myers theatre on Friday, April 25, the Aborn Opera Company will be seen in its much talked of Parisian version of Balzac's greatest work "The Bohemian Girl." That music lover and theatregoers generally approve of the innovations introduced by Milton and Sargent Aborn in their highly spectacular revival of this favorite opera is best attested to by the universally complimentary reviews given to it by the newspaper writers of the country. To those who have seen it only as it was presented previously to last season, it would seem entirely out of place to introduce a troupe of acrobats, horses, monkeys, geese, dogs, chickens, etc. and still those that have seen both the old and the Aborn version have wondered why these seeming incongruities have not always been parts of "The Bohemian Girl," so consistently do they fit.

"OH—MOTHER-IN-LAW."

The poor Mother-in-law: Since time immemorial have they been the target for abuse and calumny. To all intents and purposes they are part and parcel of all humorous papers, and they supply also a mine of humor or for numberless farces and comedies.

But after all you married men, they are not so bad and surely not as bad as the one pictured in the sidesplitting farce which will be presented Sunday evening, April 28, by the German Theatre Company, from the Pabst theatre in Milwaukee, at Myers theatre.

The author has succeeded admirably in creating a most overwhelmingly comical character, surrounding it with the quaintest situation, so much so to keep the audience in continuous laughter. Although of French origin the farce is free from ambiguity and can be thoroughly enjoyed by every member of the family. No one should miss this opportunity to forget a day's care, and worries, by attending this show.

Remember the cast includes some of the best artists of Milwaukee, by whose efforts you'll be afforded a chance to become acquainted with this really first class production which is also interspersed with catchy songs.
